FACTUAL BACKGROUND

11. On information and belief, and based on the FDA's website, Mallinckrodt Inc. is the current holder of New Drug Application (“NDA”) No. 204031 for the manufacture and sale of XARTEMIS XR (oxycodone hydrochloride and acetaminophen) extended-release tablets.

ANSWER: Mallinckrodt admits that it is the holder of NDA No. 204031. Mallinckrodt admits that NDA No. 204031 sought approval to market XARTEMIS XR. Mallinckrodt denies the remaining allegations of paragraph 11.

12. On information and belief, Counterclaim-defendant Mallinckrodt markets oxycodone hydrochloride and acetaminophen extended-release tablets in the United States under the trade name XARTEMIS XR. According to the FDA website, XARTEMIS XR was approved by the FDA on March 11, 2014.

ANSWER: Mallinckrodt admits the allegations of paragraph 12.

13. On information and belief, and based on Plaintiffs’ allegations, Counterclaim-defendant Mallinckrodt is listed as the purported owner of record and purported assignee of U.S. Patent Nos. 7,976,681 (“the ’681 patent”), 8,658,631 (“the ’631 patent”), 8,741,885 (“the ’885 patent”), 8,980,319 (“the ’319 patent”), 8,992,975 (“the ’975 patent”), and 9,050,335 (“the ’335 patent”).

ANSWER: Mallinckrodt admits that it is the owner of record and assignee of the ’681, ’631, ’885, ’319, and ’975 patents. Mallinckrodt denies the remaining allegations of paragraph 13.

14. On information and belief, and based on Plaintiffs’ allegations, Counterclaim-defendant Depomed is listed as the purported owner and purported assignee of U.S. Patent Nos. 7,976,870 (“the ’870 patent”), 8,668,929 (“the ’929 patent”), 8,372,432 (“the ’432 patent”), 8,377,453 (“the ’453 patent”), and 8,394,408 (“the ’408 patent”).

ANSWER: Depomed admits that it is the owner of record and assignee of the ’870, ’929,

'432, and '453 patents. Depomed denies the remaining allegation of paragraph 14.

15. Counterclaim-Defendants have informed the FDA of the unexpired '681, '631, '885, '319, '975, '870, '929, '432, '453, '408, and '335 patents (collectively “the XARTEMIS XR Patents”) with respect to which a claim of patent infringement could reasonably be asserted if a person not licensed by the owner engaged in the manufacture, use or sale of oxycodone hydrochloride and acetaminophen extended-release tablets. The XARTEMIS XR Patents are listed by the FDA in its publication, Approved Drug Products with Therapeutic Equivalence Evaluations, commonly referred to as the “Orange Book” for the NDA, under 21 U.S.C. § 355(j)(7).

ANSWER: Plaintiffs admit that the described XARTEMIS XR Patents are listed in the Orange Book. Plaintiffs deny the remaining allegations of paragraph 15.

16. Listing the XARTEMIS XR Patents in the Orange Book is a representation to the world that Counterclaim-Defendants believe these patents purportedly cover oxycodone hydrochloride and acetaminophen extended-release tablets, and that an infringement suit could be alleged against any generic ANDA applicant, including Counterclaim-Plaintiff, that attempts to seek approval for, and market, a generic version of oxycodone hydrochloride extended release tablets before the patents' expiration.

ANSWER: Plaintiffs admit that the XARTEMIS XR Patents are listed in the Orange Book. Plaintiffs deny the remaining allegations of paragraph 16.

17. Actavis currently holds Abbreviated New Drug Application (“ANDA”) No. 207113 oxycodone hydrochloride and acetaminophen extended-release tablets.

ANSWER: Plaintiffs admit the allegation of paragraph 17.

18. Actavis filed certifications under 21 U.S.C. § 355(j)(2)(A)(vii)(IV) (“Paragraph IV Certification”) certifying that each of the XARTEMIS XR Patents is invalid, unenforceable, and/or will not be infringed by the manufacture, use, offer for sale, importation, or sale of oxycodone hydrochloride and acetaminophen extended release tablets (“Proposed Product”) as covered by ANDA No. 207113. In accordance with 35 U.S.C. § 355(j)(2)(B)(i) and (ii), Actavis sent letters to Counterclaim-Defendants that provided notice of the Paragraph IV Certifications and provided the factual and legal bases for those Certifications.

ANSWER: Plaintiffs admit that they received two letters from Actavis providing notice of Paragraph IV Certifications and purporting to provide the factual and legal bases for those Certifications. Plaintiffs deny the remaining allegations of paragraph 18.

19. In connection with the notice to Counterclaim-Defendants of Counterclaim-Plaintiff’s Paragraph IV Certification, Actavis provided an offer of confidential access to its ANDA in accordance with 21 U.S.C. § 355(j)(5)(C)(i)(I)(cc) and (III).

ANSWER: Plaintiffs admit that Actavis provided an offer of confidential access. Plaintiffs deny the remaining allegations of paragraph 19.

20. On June 5, 2015, Counterclaim-Defendants sued Counterclaim-Plaintiff in this district asserting infringement of the ’681, ’631, ’885, ’319, ’975, ’870, and ’929 patents based on Actavis’ filing of ANDA No. 207113 with a Paragraph IV certification. On November 2, 2015, Counterclaim-Defendants filed an amended complaint that, among other things, added allegations of infringement for the ’432, ’453, ’408, and ’335 patents. Accordingly, there is an actual, substantial, and continuing justiciable case and controversy between Counterclaim-Plaintiff and Counterclaim-Defendants regarding the XARTEMIS XR Patents, over which this Court can and should exercise jurisdiction and declare the rights of the parties.

ANSWER: Plaintiffs admit the allegation of paragraph 20.

21. Furthermore, based on, inter alia, the listing in the Orange Book of the XARTEMIS XR Patents; Actavis' filing of its ANDA with Paragraph IV Certifications to the XARTEMIS XR Patents; Actavis' intention to seek approval for its generic oxycodone hydrochloride and acetaminophen tablets before expiration of the XARTEMIS XR Patents; and Counterclaim-Defendants' suit against Counterclaim-Plaintiff for infringement of the XARTEMIS XR Patents there is a continuing case or controversy between Counterclaim-Plaintiff and Counterclaim-Defendants regarding infringement and validity of the XARTEMIS XR Patents.

ANSWER: Plaintiffs admit that a case and controversy exists related to Actavis's filing of its ANDA with Paragraph IV Certifications to the XARTEMIS Patents. Plaintiffs lack knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief about the truth of the remaining allegations of paragraph 21.

22. The Counterclaim-Plaintiff and Counterclaim-Defendants have adverse legal interests with regard to whether Counterclaim-Plaintiff may market and sell generic oxycodone hydrochloride and acetaminophen tablets before expiration of the XARTEMIS XR Patents.

ANSWER: Plaintiffs admit the allegations of paragraph 22.

23. Thus, Counterclaim-Plaintiff is statutorily entitled to bring and maintain this action for declaratory judgment pursuant to the Medical Modernization Act in order to obtain patent certainty, in accordance with 21 U.S.C. § 355(j)(5)(C) and 35 U.S.C. § 271(e)(5).

ANSWER: Plaintiffs admit that a case and controversy exists related to Actavis's filing of its ANDA with Paragraph IV Certifications to the XARTEMIS Patents. Plaintiffs lack knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief about the truth of the remaining allegations of paragraph 23.

24. As a result of any exclusion of Counterclaim-Plaintiff from the marketplace, Counterclaim-Plaintiff and the public will be irreparably harmed by the potential indefinite delay in the market entry and availability of lower-priced oxycodone hydrochloride and acetaminophen extended-release tablets.

ANSWER: Plaintiffs deny the allegations of paragraph 24.

25. This case is exceptional pursuant to 35 U.S.C. § 285 and Counterclaim-Plaintiff is entitled to its reasonable attorney fees pursuant to that statute.

ANSWER: Plaintiffs deny the allegation of paragraph 25.
